

Mind Your Head

Leading the Way to Healthy Minds, Healthy Schools

Monday 8th September 2008
Melbourne Convention Centre
Clarendon Street, Southbank

Across the world, our schools are struggling with complex mental health issues. Will our schools continue to bear the brunt of the problem, or will they lead the way to a solution?

'Mind Your Head' is your opportunity to contribute to debate, dialogue and action!

Mental health is the next great leadership challenge for our nations, communities and especially, our schools. We'd like you to be a part of it.

We're bringing together an eclectic assembly of international thinkers - educational and mental health leaders to tackle the challenges of school mental health head on. Our mission? To exert our collective influence to build positive school cultures that embrace mental health as an essential foundation of any learning community. Our vision? For every school to be as committed to mental wellbeing as they are to physical health.

As educational and mental health leaders, we create culture... so what kind of culture do we want for our schools, and how do we go about creating it? Can we take a more mindful approach to leadership, to see beyond the operational stuff and get a clearer picture of where we are headed? Do we have the power to make that kind of change? Is there a difference between authority and influence, and how do we use it?

'Mind Your Head' will be a gathering like no other. Part town hall meeting, part ideas summit, Mind Your Head will be an open exploration of issues and possibilities. If you like endless speeches, powerpoint slides and workshops, then this is not the event for you. But if you can participate in a passionate exchange of thoughts and ideas with intelligent, thoughtful people of influence, then we want you to join us. Recommendations from our meeting will go forward for consideration in the Melbourne Charter for Mental Health Promotion and Prevention being developed in the World Mental Health conference, also being held in Melbourne in September 2008.

Interconnexions is a collaborative project of the ICP (International Confederation of Principals) and Intercamhs (International Alliance of Child and Adolescent Mental Health and Schools) which aims to develop and implement strategies that build the capacity of all school leaders to improve mental health and wellbeing and student learning in school communities around the world. APAPDC will join with them for this day to advance the importance of leaders leading in mental health and wellbeing.
